This textbook on term and late preterm infants provides information that is fundamental to working in a newborn nursery. The book begins with a chapter on conception, embryogenesis, fetal development and behavior. Chapter 2 focuses on obstetrical events and concludes with a discussion on the newborn's post birth adaptation and resuscitation. Admission procedures and notations that are standard in nurseries are included in Chapter 3. The newborn history and physical exam. About the Author: The author is a neonatologist with over 40 years of academic and private practice experience in newborn nurseries and neonatal intensive care units. His previous publications include numerous scientific papers and a textbook entitled Primary Care.
